AMP Capital Investors makes senior European infrastructure appointment

AMP Capital Investors today announced the appointment of Rob Verrion as Head of European Infrastructure Asset Management. Previously Chief Executive Officer of Angel Trains, Mr Verrion will be based in AMP Capital's London office and commences his role in November 2009.

In this newly formed role, Mr Verrion will be responsible for the long term performance of AMP Capital's European infrastructure assets as part of the company's active management strategy.

AMP Capital Investors Head of European Infrastructure Rob Gregor said Mr Verrion brought significant experience to the team and added further strength to AMP Capital's European infrastructure capabilities.

"We are extremely pleased to welcome Rob on board. His wealth of knowledge and expertise, developed over more than 25 years in the infrastructure sector, is invaluable," Mr Gregor said.

"Rob's experience spans a number of infrastructure sub-sectors including regulated utilities and transport. He is an ideal fit for our infrastructure team as we remain focused on growing our presence in Europe."

In addition to his role as CEO of Angel Trains, Mr Verrion was also Chief Operating Officer of Transco Plc, the international electricity and gas company that subsequently became National Grid. He has also held senior roles with Severn Trent Water, Metrogas and British Gas and has extensive experience as a non-executive director.

"Rob will be integral to the active management of AMP Capital's infrastructure assets in the UK and Europe. Our focus continues to be on maximising the long term performance of these businesses for the benefit of our investors and the community," Mr Gregor said.

AMP Capital manages a diversified portfolio of infrastructure assets in Europe, including interests in Compañía Logística de Hidrocarburos in Spain; Wales and West Utilities; and Angel Trains UK.
